JAPANESE ACTOR
IN "ALIEN SOULS"
NOW AT THE LYRIC

Session Hayakawa, the celebrated Japanese actor, who will be seen at the Lyric theater today and tomorrow in the Lasky production, "Alien Souls," a thrilling photoplay written especially for him, was born in Tokio, Japan, twenty-seven years ago. Hayakawa's uncle was the famous Japanese actor, Otto Kalemaki, and Hayakawa, fascinated by the stage, entered his uncle's company, in which the celebrated actress, Madam Yacco, was appearing. Hayakawa appeared in support of this artist at the Shintomi Za and the Teokoku Za, two leading theaters in Japan. He accompanied Madam Yacco and her company to this country, studied English drama and literature for one year at the University of Chicago, and translated a number of English classics into Japanese. He returned to Japan and appeared in Shakespearean plays, scoring a great success as "Othello." Upon returning to this country he was selected by a distinguished motion picture director to play the stellar role in "The Typhoon" and "The Wrath of the Gods," and in these made a phenomenal success.
Madam Yacco's company was a little eight-year-old Japanese actress, Tsuru Aoki, who eventually became Mrs. Session Hayakawa. Hayakawa's first engagement with the Lasky company was in support of Edward Ables in "After Five." He then appeared in support of Blanche Sweet in "The Clue" and "The Secret Sin," shortly afterwards creating a great success in "The Cheat," in support of Fannie Ward. "Alien Souls" was written for him by Hector Turnbull, author of "The Cheat," and prepared for the screen by Margaret Turnbull. These plays are presented on the Paramount program.

the clothing firm of E. L. Washburn Company, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived in the city yesterday morning, and will remain several days attending to some business affairs and visiting old friends whom they have not met for several years.
They now reside at Hollywood, Calif., and have been in Massachusetts for two months visiting relatives of Mr.
Washburn.Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Schrack of Los Angeles left here yesterday for Detroit.
They are making the trip overland, driving a car designed and built by Mr. Schrack. The motor is entirely different from any in use. It develops a lot of power on a small amount of gasoline, having a test record of forty miles on a gallon. The trip is a honeymoon affair. Mrs. Schrack, who was Miss Ross Blaine, is a well known violinist, having had engagements with Redpath circuit. She is a sister

TWO FAMOUS STARS IN WONDERFUL PLAY AT PASTIME TODAY ONLY

Telly Marshall, who plays a dependent opposite Norma Talmadge in the new Triangle play, "The Devil's Needle," was very nervous when he was informed that he had been engaged for the part.

"But," said the director, "it was in a done field part in Clyde Fitch's play "The City," that you made your greatest fame."

"That's all right enough," retorted Marshall, "but it takes a long time to study out such a role. When I spent many days with physicians in hospitals, studying the workings of the drug, and did almost everything but actually try it. It was a veritable nightmare, and I'd hate like the devil to go through it again."

You won't have to go through all that again. I'm satisfied that enough knowledge of the part has been obtained with you to make this a convincing portrayal," declared the director.

"I'm nervous about it, just the same," insisted the actor.

"All the better," said the other.
"It's nervous part, and you'll be acting in the right spirit."

Those who have seen the picture say that Marshall did not fail to catch the spirit. He lost his nervousness after making the first few scenes, mainly because they were developed and projected for his exacting benefit. Seeing himself on the screen, and finding the effect right, he continued his work with an enthusiasm that helped make "The Devil's Needle" one of the best Triangle re-leasess thus far.

Also see De Wolf Hopper in "The Girl and the Mummy." Both at the Pastime theater today and tomorrow.

The Christian church ladies will ber 15 and 16.

REPUBLICANS WILL PUT UP D. J. METZGAR FOR COMMISSIONER

The republican county central committee will place D. J. Metzgar on the party's ticket as candidate for county commissioner from the First commission district. The convention nominated Gabriel Sanchez of Rancho de Atkinson for this place, but Mr. Sanchez resigned following the nomination of his brother as their candidate for commissioner. It was reported at the democratic convention that Mr. Sanchez, the republican nominee, would withdraw, but the republican county central committee was not formally informed of his withdrawal until later.
